

ABURemote

The freedom you need

ABURemote gives you the freedom you need when transporting heavy loads. The load can be moved from the safest available standing position which offers the best overview.

The 'ABURemote Button' allows the operator to do this even with a single hand.

User-friendly

operation

With the Radio Remote Control 'ABURemote Button', which is specially designed for optimised ergonomics, you can operate your crane with a single hand. Thanks to large command buttons facilitating easy access to the finely adjusted pressure points, your hand will not tire even during continuous operation.

Backlit

display

Via the backlit display, data on chosen settings, active cranes and hoists, radio signal strength and battery charge is shown. And – if a load indicator system has been installed – the weight of the load on the hook is displayed in gross or net form if required.

Standard rechargeable batteries

Mignon (AA)

Forget expensive and complex replacement of special batteries. ABURemote works with standard rechargeable batteries with a charge life of more than 40 hours. Replacement rechargeable batteries may be carried in the waist harness of the Radio Remote Control 'ABURemote Joystick', meaning the batteries can be changed on the spot.

Modern

menu guidance

Even with its many functions, you will familiarise yourself quickly with ABURemote. The intuitively designed menu allows you to quickly access your crane functions. Four function buttons can be assigned individually to the commands you frequently need.

Resistant

to radio frequency interference

ABURemote automatically communicates on available radio channels with your crane and is therefore very interference-resistant. Consequently all commands are processed into the requested action.
